

After The 12th Czech Energy Congress in Prague

The 12th Czech Energy Congress was organised under the auspices of the Prime Minister of the Czech Republic Petr Nečas, Ministry of Industry and Trade and Ministry for the Environment where Pravda Capital Trading, s.r.o. took part.

The keynote speaker was Professor Dieter Helm, a distinguished British economist and the Associate of the Smith School of Enterprise, University of Oxford, a recognised expert in the future development of the energy sector and the economic impact of environmental measures.

The key topics:

- Vision for energy development in Europe in the face of the eurozone crisis - approach and interests of selected European countries – opportunities and risks
- Acceptable trajectories for development of the Czech energy sector from the aspect of economic prosperity and energy security
- How does the free market cope with the financial, economic and climate crisis? Will the crisis impact the Temelin nuclear project? What are the financial risks associated with the Temelin nuclear project?
- Energy storage technologies – traditional and future

Below we present some pictures from the event.

